About Company

☐ Provided by Customer

In the twenty-first century, both medical and technology is becoming highly developed. Since there are so many biotechnology products and information on medical polyclinics very details, the public usually rely on media advertising to collect information. However, sometime public received unreliable sources of information or based on personal intuitions. Sometime the information they gathered unreliable causes some dispute and misunderstandings.

We believe that return to nature should be the essence of life, human is part of nature, we should maintain our health in accordance with the law of nature, and nature as teacher. The rule of maintaining health lies in our own hands, in every aspect of daily life, as long as the concept is correct, willing to learn and update knowledge, as a result everyone can live in a very healthy and happy life.

Ing Biotek is established under this concept, we insist on not adding any food additives. Using Invention patented method, a traditional fermentation methods combined with modern biotechnology extraction technique, in the most natural, original way, produced high-quality products, for health of people in the world. We also promote eating right food and proper eating habits, start from now, creating a healthy life and environment for our future generations.

Since 2019 our products have been awarded as Diet and Health food by Monde Selection. The leading International Quality Institute evaluates and certifies the quality of the products from all over the world.
